London fashion law firm Crefovi ranked top expert for the “Luxury goods” sector by Chambers & Partners: we reached another milestone!

On 28 April 2015, Chambers & Partners issued its ranking of the top law firms specialised in the luxury goods sector: London fashion law firm Crefovi came out on top!

The team of London fashion law firm Crefovi is described in Chambers & Partners' 2015 Europe guide as being known as a “dedicated fashion law and luxury goods boutique, with a large portfolio of cross-border work supported by offices in Paris and London. Expertise in IP, commercial contracts and tax advice. Varied client roster includes fashion brands and agents, as well as crowdfunding platforms in the industry”.

One of our clients' quotes is mentioned, as well, in Chambers & Partners' 2015 Europe guide, as follows: “The firm's key strength is its fashion market experience and familiarity with key issues in Europe for new brands entering the market.”

London fashion law firm Crefovi's founding partner, Annabelle Gauberti, is mentioned as the key contact for the firm. She has acquired extensive knowledge and experience in the legal field, as it applies to the fashion and luxury industries, either in litigation related or non-litigation related matters. She is delighted that Crefovi's legal and sectorial expertise, as well as the quality of the services provided by London fashion law firm Crefovi, are recognised as being outstanding.

Crefovi is ranked by Chambers & Partners as an expert in the luxury goods sector, along with other prestigious and well-established law firms, such as DLA Piper, Hogan Lovells, Dentons, August & Debouzy and Jones Day.

London fashion law firm Crefovi has an ambitious programme of seminars, entitled the “law of fashion and luxury goods series” which it is rolling out from 2014 to 2016, in partnership with the international association of lawyers for the creative industries \(ialci\), which it sponsors.

The third seminar to this programme of the law of fashion and luxury goods series is going to be announced soon, so stay tuned to snap up your attendance ticket to this high-profile event for the fashion and luxury industries, to be hosted in London.
