At times of crisis, clients call on London product liability law firm Crefovi, and its renowned Litigation Department, to represent them in complex product liability actions.

A trial-ready team

London product liability law firm Crefovi has a Product Liability Practice, which defends high-stakes litigation ranging from toxic torts to product liability and product recalls to multi-jurisdictional consumer class actions. For companies facing enterprise-threatening litigation in hostile venues, settlement may not be an option. In those cases, London product liability law firm Crefovi offers a bench of seasoned litigation lawyers with a record of success in bench and trials in courts across Europe. The team's success is predicated on the courtroom skills of its trial lawyers and their substantive expertise in handling complex scientific and technical matters. When complex cases need to be settled, Crefovi lawyers craft outside-the-box solutions and draw on the firm's insurance coverage practice to bring them to closure.
